Ladies and Gentlemen.

It is with great pleasure that I am able to be with you this afternoon on this important roundtable event that will discuss the strategies and responses to the impacts of Russia-Ukraine conflict on Malawi.

Since the onset of Russia-Ukraine conflict on 24th February 2022, many countries reacted by imposing sanctions targeting Russian individuals including the broader economy. This has had a number of implications on Malawian economy as you are already aware. All sectors, including the financing flows to the NGO sector, have been affected.

Ladies and gentlemen, considering that the impacts are already here, what is important is to take advantage of the emerging opportunities of the conflict if we are to move forward as a nation.

I understand that there are a number of institutions that have been independently working on the implications of the Russia-Ukraine conflict on Malawi. This roundtable event provides a good platform to consolidate all those findings for informed policy formulations and actions.

Ladies and gentlemen, I would like therefore to urge all stakeholders here present; the academia, government ministries, and agencies (MDAs), the donor community, civil society, the media and UN agencies to be candid in this important conversation so that we agree on the key policy conclusions regarding this important matter.

As the Ministry, we commit to follow the discussions in this roundtable with keen interest and look forward to the key policy conclusions from this roundtable dialogue.

Thank you all for your attention!
